ARNOLD AND TOBIAS WIN IN THE AMATEUR BALKLINE TOURNAMENT.

Two more games were played yesterday in the amateur balkline tournament Academy, Forty-second-st. and Broadway. In the afternoon Arnold (200) heat Douglas (200) by 200 to 120 in a rather uninteresting game. Arnold played poorly at first, and Douglas took the lead. When the former finally struck his game, however, he had everything his own way, and rushed shead to the end, winning easily. Arnold's average was 44-49 and his best runs were 25, 22, 18, 16, 18 and 10, while Douglas made an average of 224-48, and his only

What the afternoon game lacked in excitement was more than made up in the evening game. Stark (200) met Tobias (215), and was beaten in a slow but interesting same. These two players were tied for second place, and it was thought that Stark would prove an easy winner. He got a good lead, and then began to play badly, and Tobias almost overtook him, finally winning by his handicap, 215 to 221. Stark had an average of just 6 up to twenty-one innings, but at the end he missed so many shots that his average gradually fell down to less than 4. Some of Tobias's draw shots were very clever, and one brilliant massé brought down the gallery with a lasting peal of applause. The crulser New-Orleans, formerly the Brazilian ruiser Amazonas, arrived in port yesterday from Philadelphia, and anchored of Tompkinsville. She commanded by Captain W. M. Folger, and will go to the Navy Yard in a day or two for an over-hauling. She had on the way up a run under forced draught for four hours, and made an average of a little more than nineteen knots an hour. This is regarded as a remarkable showing for a vessel that has not been out of the water for more than a year, and is held to be a strong argument for the system of shearing steel vessels with wood and copper, which has been adopted by the Navy Department in the case of some of the smaller gunboats. The speed was not much less than her trial-trip record, which was about twenty-one knots.

MORTIMER S. BATE EXONERATED.

To the Editor of The Tribune. About two weeks ago an article appeared in your journal, stating that Mortimer S. Bate, of this city, had been arrested on a civil charge in an action, in which I appeared as attorney, connected with the sale of certain suburban property.

I have since learned that Mr. Bate was entirely free from any intentional impropriety in regard to the transaction alluded to. The facts stated in your newspaper were substantially correct, but I your newspaper were substantially correct, but I have been informed that while Mr. Bute was originally connected with the association exploiting the lots in question, he had long since separated himself from it. The contracts to which he was originally a party had been assumed by others, and he supposed himself to be entirely free from any responsibility in the matter. He was naturally surprised at the institution of the suit against him, but on realizing that he had assumed an obligation in the matter, he promptly came forward and paid off the entire indebtedness in cash.

LIVE TOPICS FROM BERLIN

GERMANY AND RUSSIA AT ODDS .- The official relations between Germany and Russia have been ruffled recently. This fact, although denied by the Government organs, was obtained from a person in high authority, and one of the most striking proofs of the accuracy of the statement is that Count Muravieff, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, has just visited Paris and Vienna, but he ignored Berlin. The German newspapers remarked this and have commented upon the omission. Other significant facts are the almost outspokenly hostile tone of the entire Russian press, n which the rapprochement between Germany and Great Britain is described as an underhand plot against Russia, which the latter is justified in keenly resenting in view of her friendliness to Germany in China and in the recent tariff negotiations. Moreover, Emperor William's visit to the Orient is characterized as an impudent attempt to undermine Russian influence in Turkey and position of the Orthodox Greek Church in Pales-The Russian clerical authorities fear Ger orthodox Greek pilgrims are ten times more numerous than those of all the other creeds together. It is said that Russia, in order to counteract the is said that Russia, in order to counteract the Anglo-German agreement, has come to a closer understanding with Austria, by which these two countries and France will jointly oppose the increasing influence of Germany in the Orient, and will in no case permit Turkish cessions to Germany. The bulk of the German newspapers express the opinion that Emperor William's trip will yield little tangible good, but will create much jealousy upon the part of the interested Powers, who will endeavor to destroy any German projects in Asia Migor. The German comic papers are also poking fun at the Emperor and his new crussde, leading in some cases to prosecutions on the charge of leze-majesty. The police confiscated the last number of "Simplicissimus" owing to its publication of a poem entitled "In the Holy Land," ironically congratulating Palestine on receiving such august visitors, and saying Golgotha will be able to boost not only of hearing the list words from the Cross, but the first of Emperor William.

EMPEROR'S VISIT TO THE HOLY LAND The German newspaper correspondents with Em peror William highly praise the lavish hospitality of the Sultan of Turkey, which, however, ated intense dissatisfaction among the Turks. Placards have been posted on the mosques and in the streets of Stamboul denouncing the extraordinary sums spent on the Emperor, which money, it is further pointed out, comes out of Mahometan

It is said the Sultan offered to present Emperor Jerusalem, with the famous "Chamber of the Last Sultan and declined the proposal, on the ground that the building also contained Turkish religious relics. The Emperor, it is further asserted, will get some other valuable present instead. Another retire expense of the Emperor's tour out of his own private purse. But, they add, that as soon as His Majesty set foot in the Holy Land, as a Christian pligrim, there was no longer anything in common between him and the Sultan, and he could not remain the latter's guest. It appears that the progress of the Emperor and Empress through Falestine has been fatiguing, especially to the Empress. There has been plenty of color and picturesque tableaus, but the heat has been intense. Thursday was an especially trying day, and the terrifically hot march lested thriteen hours. The Tarchise cavality essort lost four horses.

Their Imperial Majesties have been receiving addresses from the German colonies at each town they have visited. Heplying to the Germans at Sarona, the Emperor said he was pleased to the stant the good relations he had maintained with the Sultan and the Ottoman Empire had benefited his German subjects in the last generally. Continuing, the Emperor remarked that the more the Germans in the East clung to their native country the more would they constitute a civilizing and useful element in the Turkish Empire, and it was in recognition of this fact that the Sultan had extended his benevolent protection to the German residents. The march of the imperial party from Bah-el-Wady to Jerusalem vesterday was especially interesting, as the route followed traverses the Valley of Ajalon, where Joshua defented the five Kings of the Amorites, and enabled Their Majestles to see the Cave of Makkedah, where they hid after the battle. The traveliers also pursed the spat, Labron, where Joshua defented the five Kings of the Amorites, and enabled Their Majestles to see the Cave of Makkedah, where they hid after the battle.
